J. LEVI MEADER, MAYOR

Twenty-Fifth Annual Report
OF THE
City of Rochester
NEW HAMPSHIRE

For the Year Ending December 31st
Nineteen Hundred and Sixteen

Inaugural Address

BY

MAYOR J. LEVI MEADER

Gentlemen of the Council:

Agreeable to custom, it becomes my duty at the opening of the New Year of our City Government to call your attention to what I consider some of the most important facts for your guidance through the year.

I shall not make an extended review of all the departments, but shall simply mention some of the important points I deem worthy of your attention.

We all know that when we accepted our nominations and were elected, we entered into a contract with the City of Rochester; and we are bound to give the necessary time as well as our best judgment to the matters which come before us during our term of office. You are expected to attend all meetings, not only of the council, but also of all committees to which you may be appointed, giving the time required to perform the work before you. It is of the utmost importance that you familiarize yourselves with every matter to which your attention may be called, and that you always consider before signing a report whether the best interests of all our people are to be served.

We are fortunate in having in our city an efficient, well organized Chamber of Commerce, composed of business men who are working earnestly for the business growth and general welfare of our city. They have taken up and accomplished many acts of vital importance to Rochester, and have now under consideration the possibility, which they will place before the railroad officials, of changing the railroad freight system, in order to eliminate the dangerous crossings which are more or less congested at times on our main boulevard, and to facilitate a more satisfactory handling of our freight. I think it will be advisable and shall ask one of our committees to confer at any time with a like committee from the Chamber of Commerce, thus reporting to the council necessary measures, that we may act jointly in matters worthy of consideration, for the city's welfare.

FINANCES

First we must determine the financial condition of our city in order to know what we may undertake, for the all important requisite of a well organized business concern is good financing.

With our indebtedness in floating notes of approximately $188,000, which has been increased during the past year about $20,000, with our city hall debt which now stands $47,000, with our water bonds of $160,000, whose sinking fund has been borrowed each year and is represented in the floating notes, in 1922 when the bonds come due this debt in its entirety if we continue to increase the floating notes, will have to be refunded.

Thus, this total indebtedness of over $400,000 could be decreased a few thousands by use of the money on hand in the different departments at the time these figures were obtained. Thus, we are paying about $14,000 in interest, a sum ever increasing with no systematic arrangement for reducing our floating debt, which was properly created by taking over our water system and sewer, the construction of our public buildings and highways together with other public needs; but now it seems a proper time to make provision for payment of this debt. The welfare of our city is entrusted to our care. We must be careful that our tax rate is not made excessive, yet we must maintain good schools, good highways, have ample fire and police protection, in fact we must thoughtfully consider the future as well as the present needs of our citizens.

I firmly believe that we should not only make provision to take care of our current expenses without increasing our indebtedness, but that we should also frame some plan for decreasing our back debt which should be paid serially, through our annual appropriation, thus in a term of years we should lessen our obligations, instead of going on indefinitely without any careful or systematic regard for our future. We must fully consider our needs, make our appropriations ample, and always keep within our means. Thus, by a "pay as you go" policy we establish our city on a firm business basis, such as every tax payer of Rochester has a right to expect of us.

SCHOOLS

We have splendid facilities for the education of our young people in the way of modern school buildings and an excellent corps of teachers.

Our most serious difficulty is, it appears, that of retaining good teachers. Whenever by the expenditure of a few more dollars in the way of salary a good teacher might be retained it would seem good policy to do this. Under present conditions money expended for capable instructors is a better investment for the children of our city than a broadening of the curriculum. The question of politics should never, for a moment, be allowed to interfere with our policy in regard to our schools. They are our greatest asset, and their efficiency should not be limited by any personal or political influence. Our attitude toward them should be marked by a generous consideration of all things which are for the moulding of the character of our young people, our citizens of tomorrow.

HIGHWAYS

The subject of our highways is one of the most important with which we have to deal, for with about one hundred and fifty miles of roads to rebuild and repair and but a small amount of money available, a good deal of study and forethought are required to get the best results. If the new state highways as laid out, are ratified, we shall be obliged to spend a larger sum in fulfilling our part in this new construction work.

I am in favor of giving first attention to the permanent roads already built that they may be kept in proper repair at all times, in respect to re-surfacing and oiling; for if attended to before they go too far, considerable unnecessary expense is saved. We have built a good piece of permanent road from Horse Hill, so-called, to lower Page Hill, thus nearly completing a splendid road from our city to Meaderboro Corner, accommodating a large number of tax payers who contribute a large proportion toward the expenses of the city and justly feel that they should have their share of the city's improvements; and good roads are all that we can give them.

A country population is a big asset to the business interest of any city, and whatever is done to increase such population is money well spent.

I think that the road leading from East Rochester to Gonic should be re-surfaced; Portland Street is in a deplorable condition and should have attention; Upper Main Street needs repairing; Charles Street is always full of holes and ratty owing to the sprinkling by water. It would seem that the matter of oil instead of water might well be considered. Although the first cost of the former is greater, yet when compared with that of extra labor and material required to keep roads in repair owing to the excessive use of water, it would seem that oiling might be advisable. There is a good deal of travel between our city and Farmington, which has a good road to our line, and it would seem expedient to reconstruct this part of our highway if our finances will permit.

LIBRARY

Our public library is an institution of which we should all be proud. Under its very efficient librarian it has grown rapidly to rank among the first in our State. The aid it is giving to our schools as well as to the general public in reference work, is I fear, hardly appreciated; our schools would indeed be unable to accomplish the courses laid out without the library's assistance along this line. Of necessity it is under quite an expense; but it is well and economically managed by a board of competent, interested men and women, deserving much credit for always having kept within their appropriation, at the same time giving a maximum of usefulness, and they should be given as large an appropriation as possible that they may be able to maintain and enlarge the library as its needs require as well as to compensate the librarian and her assistants amply and with a suitable ratio of increase according to the years of service.

POLICE

Our police department has a good record and merits praise for the work accomplished during the past year, and I shall continue to hold them strictly accountable to the faithful discharge of their duty whoever may be chosen to police our city during my term of office.

Since our citizens voted no-license they rightfully expect the illegal sale of intoxicants to be suppressed; and I take this opportunity to state that I shall be ready to investigate any complaints made, also to co-operate with the officials for such suppression and enforcement.

FIRE

Our fire department is more efficient than ever before. It should be kept up to this high point at all times, since our lives and property must be cared for by serviceable and adequate means of quickly quelling any fire that may start in our midst.

The fire department should be given great credit—the heads, for the manner in which the apparatus and the station are cared for; the men who make up the quota of the different companies, for their quick, active response to all calls, which has no doubt saved many costly fires. They should at all times have consideration from us that they may not lack material, to make their work as effective as possible. Their duties are hazardous at all times, their bravery and spirit command respect from all.

WATER

We are fortunate in having an ample supply of pure water at all times, well cared for by men whose long training in this department has familiarized them with the city's needs. We are not unmindful of the fact that there are periods when there is a taint in the water caused by fermentation or growth of vegetable matter, which is unpleasant but not unwholesome. As time goes on, it is hoped and believed that we may be able to entirely free the water of this objectionable feature. Thus it will not be necessary, for at least a long time, to go to the expense of joining any water district scheme as has been proposed.

PARKS

We have many public spirited citizens in our midst who are interested in beautifying our city in remodeling parks and squares, by setting out shade trees and shrubbery, as well as by donating land, all of which tends to make our city's appearance more pleasing. This generosity should be encouraged by hearty cooperation on our part. Nothing so impresses travelers with our cleanliness, thrift, growth, and sense of beauty as our well kept shade trees, parkways, and parks.

IN CONCLUSION

Our city is very fortunate in its splendid natural advantages. With its shade trees, parks, river, and intervale, its scenery can hardly be surpassed. Its healthful condition speaks for itself in freedom from epidemics. This results from enforcement of health laws, absence of saloons, cleanliness of streets, as well as from interest of individuals, in the sanitary conditions of their surroundings. Tourists are often heard to remark Rochester's natural beauty. Should not we, then strive to advance in all lines of civic improvement? Again from our position as a railroad center, we are unusually well situated to take care of shipments in and out of our city for all our varied industries. This, with land available for building purposes, gives us unusual opportunities for business growth. If we do our part, working together in harmony for the city's welfare, forgetting personal advantages, striving always to place the affairs of the city on a firm business basis, we shall invite capital to invest by establishing new industries in our midst.

I trust and feel that our year may be pleasant together, that we may work without friction for Rochester's highest interest.

Your city and my city!

And, O, how much it holds—

Your home and my home—

Secure within its fold!

Your heart and my heart

Beat quicker at the sight!

Your hand and my hand

Must strive to keep it right.

feet in height then the walls to the height of the first story shall not be less than sixteen (16) inches thick, and those above the first story not less than twelve (12) inches thick. In all three-story buildings the walls of the first two stories shall be not less than sixteen (16) inches thick and no building hereafter erected of brick, stone or other incombustible substance shall be built in a range of more than fifty (50) feet measuring along the line of the walls facing the street without the intervention of a brick wall not less than eight (8) inches thick. Said wall shall be built up at least eighteen (18) inches above the flat of the roof of the highest building of which said wall forms a part for the full extent of the flat and the top of said wall shall be covered with a coping of stone, iron or other metal, and when there is a mansard or pitched roof, the wall shall be built up to the under side of the roof covering, which roof covering shall be laid and embedded in mortar upon said wall. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ROADS, BRIDGES
AND DRAINS AS TO KNIGHT STREET
CROSSING

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Rochester:

Your Committee to whom was referred the petition for the re-opening of the crossing over Knight Street makes the following report:

What is now known as the Dover and Winnipiesaukee Division of the Boston and Maine Railroad was first incorporated in 1847 under the name of the Cocheco Railroad. In 1849 or thereabouts the road was laid out, the record of which is in the Secretary of State's office at Concord, which we have had examined. This layout is by point of compass with a very frequent change of direction, and the only suggestion of streets is the occasional mention of a highway, but nowhere in passing through the Town of Rochester are two highways mentioned as being near each other. What is now South

Main Street is called in the layout a highway, and the nearest highway to it is quite a number of rods therefrom. The record does not give the ordinary reader a clear idea of where a highway is located. It will require an engineer with his instrument to search them out, and therefore we are unable to discern that the records at Concord shed any light upon the rights of the public to this Knight Street crossing. It appears that the Cochecho Railroad, owing perhaps to financial difficulties, was re-organized and incorporated in about 1862 under the name of the Dover and Winnepesaukee Railroad.

The Nashua and Rochester Railroad was built in about 1871 and we have failed to find any layout of this road over Main Street or past the Knight property. We have, however, found a deed of the Knight property from John R. Roberts to the Rochester and Nashua Railroad, dated March 14, 1872, recorded Book 252, page 455, in which the description is as follows: bounded northwesterly by land of the heirs of Watson Hayes; northeasterly by Main Street and Winnepesaukee Railroad; southeasterly by Knight Street, so called, and southwesterly by land of Daniel Hart.

You will note that land is conveyed to Main Street and the Winnepesaukee Railroad; and you will also note that on another side it is conveyed to Knight Street, so called, and we interpret this deed to convey the land on the northwesterly side of Knight Street extending from the Winnepesaukee Railroad and Main Street to the land of Daniel Hart.

A search of the Register of Deeds office does not reveal any other deed conveying land to the Railroad located near this Knight Street crossing.

We have also searched the record of layout of highways in Rochester and we find on page 105, that in 1888, upon petition filed and proceedings had, a layout widening Knight Street to Main Street was made as follows: Beginning at a point measuring sixty-six feet northerly from the westerly side of the Worcester, Nashua and Rochester Railroad on the southerly side of Main Street and at the easterly corner of a house lot of Watson Hayes thence running southerly to the northerly side of Knight Street to a hub driven in the ground sixty-seven feet northeasterly from the easterly corner of land of Daniel Q. Hart on the northerly side of said Knight Street and 148.5 feet southwesterly from southwesterly side of Main Street taking in all the land between the westerly rail of said Worcester, Nashua and Rochester Railroad and the above described line making said widening 50 feet wide westerly from said rail. And you will note that no reference is made in this layout to crossing over either the Nashua and Rochester or the Dover and Winnepesaukee Railroad tracks.

We have also examined the Town Records of Rochester and find that at a Town Meeting, held August 26, 1871, under a warrant posted August 12, 1871, Article 4 as follows: "To see if the Town will vote to accept the new street laid out by Mrs. Caroline Knight running from Main Street to Charles Street;" voted to accept the street laid out by Mrs. Caroline Knight running from Main Street to Charles Street, and these are the only records shedding light upon the rights of the public to the Knight Street crossing that we have been able to find.

Soon after this petition was referred to us we notified the petitioners that we would hold a meeting at the City Building on the 5th day of February 1916, and asked them to furnish us with all the proof of which they had knowledge tending to shed any light upon the rights of the public or the Railroad to the Knight Street crossing. The meeting was held by us at that time there being a number of the petitioners together with their counsel present. The only evidence that they gave us was that the crossing had been continuously used by the public for a number of years, probably from some time prior to 1871 when the vote was passed by the Town accepting the street to the time the crossing was fenced up in the summer of 1914.

We afterward notified them that if they desired a further hearing we should be glad to give it to them at such time as would be convenient but no suggestion has been given us that they desire a further hearing.

We have also made an effort to learn the law pertaining to the establishing of streets as it existed in 1870 and 1871 when the vote of the Town accepting Knight Street was passed.

It appears that prior to 1842 Towns had the power to accept streets by vote or other act which had been dedicated to the public by the owner of the land over which they passed, by making a record of the same; but in 1842 it was enacted by the legislature that no highway that has not been laid out agreeable to the statute law shall be deemed a public highway unless the same has been used by the public for a term of not less than twenty years.

Whether Knight Street crossing was used twenty years prior to 1842 cannot now be an open question because the Cocheco Railroad was not built until at least seven years later.

All the evidence we have been able to gain seems to show that prior to the construction of the Cocheco Railroad there were cattle paths and passes over this land near Main Street from the Knight property, and also that Main Street must have been established before that time, and it seems probable that paths extended from the Knight property to Main Street but we find no mention of the paths in the lay out of the Railroad. There seems to be a strong probability that the use of the Knight Street crossing began early in the '70's, and therefore the question arose in our minds whether or not there had been a twenty years' continuous use of the crossing so as to establish a prescriptive right in the public thereto but a further examination of the statutes in this respect reveals that in 1862 the legislature passed an act, which is now Section 15 of Chapter 157 of the Public Statutes, which is as follows: "No title to any real estate or to any interest therein shall be acquired by or against the proprietors of a railroad by adverse possession however exclusive or long continued.

We have examined the records carefully and fail to find any layout by the methods prescribed by the statute of 1842 or by the statutes now existing over Knight Street across the Railroad.

It seems to be an absolute certainty that the people who now are esteemed citizens of the City residing on Knight Street, established their homes there during the time that the Railroad was allowing the public free and uninterrupted use of the crossing, and with all the circumstances indicating that it was a public highway, and thus they were lead to believe it was such. Whether the Courts would find that the Railroad by its conduct had led the land owners on Knight Street to believe in the existence of this fact to such an extent that it ought in equity to be stopped from closing their crossing, seems to be a private question existing only between the Railroad and the individual residents of Knight Street, in which the City or the public at large have no legal right to participate.

Respectfully submitted,
ERNEST W. BICKFORD,
EUGENE C. FOSS,
L. P. PICKERING.

Report of Superintendent of Water Department

FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1916

To the Committee on Water Works:

Gentlemen:—The twenty-fifth annual report of this department is herewith submitted.

Source of supply during the year: Reservoir, January 1 to June 3; Round Pond, June 3 to September 7; Reservoir, September 7 to October 24; Round Pond, October 24 to December 21; Reservoir, December 21 to December 23; Round Pond, December 23 to December 31.

Our source of supply has bothered us by the persistent growth of algae after treating same three times the past season, but we will try and eliminate it the coming season. The writer was in consultation with the state chemist at Concord and received valuable information in regard to treating our supply for the coming year. I was informed that one of our cities in this state was bothered six weeks with a taste and odor in its water that resembled burnt leather. Also a city in Massachusetts that takes its supply from a large lake that was bothered by a musty odor and taste for a long time. All of this trouble is traced to algae, a growth that takes place in most all water in New England, and some of the other states.

The system is in good working condition with an ample supply of water on hand.

We have connected the dead end of Silver Street with Western Avenue, connecting 6-inch line to Studley Box & Lumber Mill for sprinkler service only.

We have also connected Allen Street with Eastern Avenue, which will give the box mill and shoe factory ample fire protection.

In the early spring we were called upon to lay 500 ft. of 8-inch water pipe at W. H. Champlin Co.'s mill, install two hydrants and connect with the sprinkling system—the W. H. Champlin Co. paying all bills.

Late in the fall we extended Autumn Street through the Rochester Lumber Co.'s yard and connected dead end running in from Leonard Street and installed private hydrant in said Lumber Co.'s yard.

All hydrants are in good working order and the usual inspection is carried on during the winter months.

Six new hydrants have been installed the past year, four being private. Locations are as follows: Two (private) at W. H. Champlin's Mill, Corey Pt.; one (private) at Studley Box Mill, Corey Pt.; one (private) at Rochester Lumber Co.'s Mill, Corey Pt.; and one Ludlow at Portland St., East Rochester, opposite Moses Jacobs, also installed one Ludlow at corner Granite and Charles Street, removing old coffin hydrant that was useless. All new hydrants are steamer type. Hydrants to date, 192; hydrants repaired, 4.

The stand pipe at Adams Corner has been cleaned and painted the past season and the hydrants have received a good coat of paint and are in good working condition with pressure from 60 to 70, available at all times and with the assistance of the steamer that we now have we are assured of good protection from fire.

During the past year 126 meters have been installed by order of the city council and at the request of consumers. 68 per cent. of all services are metered. The following table gives size, make and number of meters in use in the city.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

On rendering my report of the Fire Department for the year ending December 31, 1916, I would state that we have been very fortunate in not having many serious fires but we may not always be as fortunate therefore it stands us in hand to be prepared for whatever emergency may arise by having up-to-date equipment.

There have been 21 bell alarms, 61 still alarms (mostly chimney fires), 8 brush and forest fires, 2 bell alarms, 7 chimney fires at East Rochester, 5 bell alarms, 7 still alarms, 1 forest fire at Gonic making a total of 112 alarms for the year.

The watchman at Blue Job Lookout station, which is maintained by the state, reported 3 of these brush fires.

The amount of property involved is as follows:

Value of buildings,	$67,712 50
Insurance of same,	48,500 00
Losses paid,	16,271 46
Value of contents,	122,800 00
Insurance on same,	96,265 00

Gentlemen, I would recommend at least 500 feet of two and one-half inch rubber lined double jacket hose this year.

There have been purchased and added to the fire department this year, one combination motor truck, 1,000 feet of hose, 10 rubber coats, 10 rubber hats, 2

Report of the Manager of Opera House

To the Committee on Public Buildings of the City Council:

Gentlemen:—As manager of the City Opera House for the year 1916, I submit the following report:

During the year the hall has been opened sixty times, for which rent has been received. There is every year a limited number of free openings, for which the attaches of the house do not ask any compensation. Of the openings for 1916, thirty-nine have been for out of town parties; theatrical companies, orchestras, and one moving picture company; and twenty-one have been for local functions.

I have booked one moving picture production, for the reason, I considered that the "Birth of a Nation" should be offered to the people of Rochester and vicinity, and the City Opera House was the only theatre available. This picture was played at some disadvantage, as we had to use a portable booth, and buy insurance permits to protect the building, but it was a splendid production, presented in a careful and efficient manner and well worth the difficulties encountered. For this privilege I considered it necessary to transfer to the Miscellaneous Department from the Opera House Department, the sum of fifty dollars and write the Opera House Department a license therefor. I trust that it will be but a few years before the City of Rochester will install an approved booth and a moving picture machine, in order that first class educational pictures may be shown in the city's best play house.

The checking room, which I mentioned in my last report, as being inadequate at all times to take care of the business offered, has been increased from one hundred and ten to two hundred apartments. The total cost of the checking room to date is $142.71, which I think covers all that it will be necessary to expend, as with the installation of a strong fence about three feet from the opening, the room is well fitted to handle a crowd however large, without any congestion. The total net earnings to date have been $120.75.

We have also had constructed for the use of the schools and such other patrons as desire them, portable stairs to be used in placing a large number of people on the stage at one time, so that all may be seen from the auditorium. The cost of this construction was $32.64.

The patronage received by the largest one-night stands on the road is not sufficient to meet their large expense, so that many of them have cancelled their New England territory, however this theatre will continue in the future as in the past to give the public the best that can be secured in the show line.

The gross receipts for the year, including the amount on hand January 1, 1916, have been $1,949.72 and the expenditures $1,334.45 leaving a balance of $615.27 of which $564.84 has been transferred to the School Department.

I wish to thank you for your co-operation in bringing about the necessary improvements during the past year and the general public and the attaches of the House for their appreciation of our efforts.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. HUSSEY,
Manager.

Report of City Solicitor

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Rochester:

By ordinance the City Solicitor is required to make a report in writing to the Council of all civil suits or legal proceedings in which the City has any interest, begun, pending, or determined during the year. Therefore, Gentlemen, it is my duty to report to you the claims pending at the beginning of my term, the action taken, and the disposition made of them.

Coming over from the 1915 administration was a Bill in Equity or suit brought in behalf of the City of Rochester against the Boston and Maine Railroad, for a temporary injunction to restrain the Railroad from building the piers of the bridge below the city on the new road to Dover, at the place located by the Railroad. A hearing was had before the Court at Rochester on August 7, 1915, at which time all of the facts on behalf of the City were presented and the issue tried and determined. The injunction was then denied. At the September term, 1915, the case was continued. My attention was called to it at the February term, 1916, and after looking up the matter and learning that all the issues had been determined there seemed to be no reason why the case should be further continued on the docket and it was dismissed, without costs to the City.

During the 1914 administration of the City's affairs it was deemed wise by those in authority to sell a certain piece of real estate situate near Lafayette street, owned by the City; a civil engineer was employed to make a survey of it, and a sale was afterward made to the Gagne Brothers. In this piece of land the City had previously laid two sewer pipes and constructed a sceptic tank, of which the City Solicitor did not know and was not informed, and the deed was prepared conveying the land without mentioning or reserving these pipe lines and tank. Early in the year 1915 I learned from a member of the City Council that these sewers and the sceptic tank were in this tract of land, and I immediately inquired from those making the sale what the conditions of the trade were, and was told that the sale was made subject to the future maintenance in this tract of land of these sewers and the sceptic tank but the Gagne Brothers refused upon request to reconvey the right to the City, and the 1915 administration took no action to recover these rights. Upon my election I deemed it a first duty to regain for the City the rights which, through no fault of the Solicitor's office, it had lost; the Gagne Brothers refused to deed the sewer rights to the City upon demand being made therefor; they also refused to accept a return of their money and reconvey the lot, and the Solicitor immediately caused a Bill in Equity or suit to be brought against them which was entered in Court at the February Term, 1916, at which term a decree establishing the title to the sewer and sceptic tank was entered in favor of the City, and the Gagne Brothers also gave a deed to the City of the same, both of which are now on file in the City Clerk's office, and all without expense to the City.

Coming over from the 1915 administration was the claim of Mrs. Sarah Sleeper against the City for injuries to her property from flooding cellar with sewage; a suit was brought in her favor against the City to recover the damage. The matter was referred to the legal committee and after a conference with Mrs. Sleeper's attorney a satisfactory adjustment of the claim was made, the amount to be paid agreed upon by action of the Council was paid and the suit was abated.

Coming over from the 1915 administration was the claim of Leslie Howe against the City for injuries to his horse going through the Axe-Handle Bridge. Suit was brought on this claim, entered in Court, a technical defence was made thereto, it was referred to the legal committee and settlement of it was made cheaper than it could have been fought. The amount was paid by action of the City Council and the suit went out of Court.

Coming over from the matters of the 1915 administration was the action of Joseph Warren by appeal from lay out of sewer pipe line at Gonic. This appeal was taken both from the lay out and from the damages assessed. It was entered in Court and as usual in such cases referred to the County Commissioners. The position of the City as disclosed to the plaintiff's attorney is that Mr. Warren has no legal standing on the question of lay out; on the question of damages he has shown no disposition to bring the suit to trial and it is now pending upon the Court docket. This is the only suit now pending against the City of Rochester and there are no claims of which we have knowledge being made against the City growing out of any of the affairs and transactions for the year 1916.

The City through its Mayor, heads of departments and committees have done a large amount of advance constructive work, they have handled its affairs with skill, care and judgment, the rights of the people have been properly respected, the interests of the City have been duly safeguarded, therefore the City business of 1916 seems to have been done in harmony and accord with the rights of those whose private interests have been affected and with a view to attaining the highest public good, and the promotion of the greatest future welfare of the City.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMER J. SMART.

Report of the Committee on Street Lights

To the Mayor and City Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—We herewith submit the following report for the year 1916. During the year this committee have been busy as during the year 1915, trying to better the conditions of our streets as to pole locations and street lights. We have made tri-party lines on Bridge, River and Lafayette Streets and Waldron Avenue. The high voltage on Charles Street, mentioned in our last report has been removed. We have had new poles set on Charles Street, putting in twenty-eight new poles to replace fifty-one old ones.

We have granted petitions for new street lights as follows: One new light on Jackson Street, two new lights on Washington Street, one new light on Jenness Street, and have rearranged a light at the corner of North Main and Jenness Streets, two new lights on Dewey Street, one new light on Orchard Street, one new light on Linden Street, and have had a light changed at the corner of South Main and Linden Streets, one new light on Lowell Street, one new light on Summer Street, East Rochester.

We have rearranged lights on Autumn Street by changing the candle-power, which added two new lights to the street, one located in the rear of Rochester Hotel and the other at the entrance of private way leading to Leonard Street. We have rearranged the light on South Main Street, near the Colonial Theatre, by changing the candle-power, one suspended light doing the work of two lights, making a saving of $27.18 per year.

We have rearranged one light on Congress Street, and also at Wallace's crossing have installed a suspended light to better light the crossing gates. We have rearranged light at corner of Charles and Broad Streets, so that said light will light Broad and Scott Streets and Bradley Court. We have rearranged lights at the corner of Summer and Kimball Streets and at the corner of Eastern Avenue and Kimball Streets by installing suspension lights. The installation and rearrangement of lights have made it necessary to grant many petitions for pole locations from the Twin State Gas and Electric Company. Changing poles has rid the city of many difficulties from trees.

The Committee have received and acted upon many petitions from the New England Telegraph and Telephone Company, made necessary by installing new telephones. Records of all pole locations are on file at the City Clerk's office.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL E. SHAPLEIGH,
FRED F. SEAVEY,
EDWARD P. MAXFIELD,

Report of Library Trustees

To the Honorable Council of the City of Rochester:

Gentlemen:—The trustees of the Rochester Public Library respectfully present the twenty-third annual report, also the reports of the librarian and treasurer for the year 1916.

It is gratifying to the trustees to be able to report one department of our public institutions which has been maintained within the appropriation. The careful and detailed reports of the librarian and treasurer which are a part of this report, show the financial condition and the work of administration. A work of constantly increasing breadth and usefulness to the city.

The high cost of living affects the library as well as the individual. Books are costing today about twenty-five per cent. more and stationery supplies nearly fifty per cent. more. For this reason the trustees have not been able to purchase any large number of the popular books. This, we believe, has something to do with the loss in circulation and yet we are glad to note that our circulation is larger than many of our more fortunate libraries in the state which are endowed with funds for the purchase of books.

We are pleased to note an increase of over 2,300 readers and students over last year.

In order to carry on the work of the library, to renew the insurance on the building, purchase new shelving and make necessary repairs we ask for an appropriation of $4,200.

The trustees express their appreciation of the excellent work done by the librarian and the faithful and courteous service given by each assistant.

For the Trustees,

Secretary.

Rochester, N. H., December 29, 1916.

Report of Librarian

To the Board of Trustees of the Rochester Public Library:

Gentlemen:—A report of the work of a library, measured in yearly periods, only deals abstractly with its three great principles, construction, conservation and distribution.

Constructing or building work in a library has to do, not merely with the adding of books but with the creation of needs and demands, as it contributes to the entertainment or the unconscious growth of the individuals who make up its patronage.

It is the aim of all who have anything to do with this work to build up never to tear down, to add books carefully, either the entertaining, the instructive or the useful, in fact to grow in every direction as fast as limited finances will allow. At the beginning of the year the library had 17,809 volumes, to these have been added 847 volumes, 593 by purchase, 79 by the binding of magazines and 175 by gift. Twenty-nine have been injured or discarded, making the entire number of volumes at the present time 18,627.

An unusually large number of gifts have been received, among them many valuable additions such as bound copies of old magazines which will help to complete files already in the library, sets of classics some in the original, some translations from the Greek, Latin or Italian masterpieces and many others from the well selected libraries of the Rev. Mr. Percival, the late Mrs. Sarah Peavey and others.

No doubt each donor echoes the sentiment of Mr. Harry Howard who said, when he recently presented a rare and costly set of the works of Luther Burbank, that, he considered it altogether too valuable a set to be shut up for the enjoyment of one or two people and that he gladly gave it to the library that every one in Rochester might use and enjoy it. Gifts and a spirit like that are what the library needs.

Second but no less important is the conservation of library resources. This means care and improvement of building, systematic efficiency in the work, accurate knowledge as to where every book, whether inside or outside of the library may be located, needful discipline in the rooms that the rights of all may be protected, as well as careful attention to the condition of each book, that it may not be tied up for weeks at a bindery or while missing leaves are typewritten. This speaks for itself if one notes the very few books lost and the record of books which have circulated from 200 to 500 times before worn out. The record of repairing shows 10,144 volumes mended at the library and 614 rebound.

Next and the end for which all other things are done is the distribution of the resources of the library. This has been accomplished in several ways, through the reading rooms, through the reference department and through the circulation of books. The number of books given out, smaller by 3,124 than last year, has exceeded in quality that of previous years. If one reckons that it takes at least twice as long to read a history or instructive book as a story of the popular variety and that out of the fiction circulated, over 9,000 have been so called standard fiction, the circulation for the year may bear the test in quality if not in quantity.

The entire number of books given out during the year was 65,637.

The children's room, sometimes a pitiable proposition, has often been crowded to its utmost capacity. Forty or more children have been counted in a room which contains but twenty-four chairs and three crickets, 75 in an afternoon is not unusual many staying several hours, and judging from conditions each book must be taken from the shelves at least once a week. 11,792 readers have been counted in this room and 17,960 juvenile books given out.

The 69 periodicals and magazines provided for the reading rooms have been much appreciated but the continued call for daily papers still remains unsatisfied. The reference work, one of the most important of the library branches has likewise been one of the most difficult, entailing as it has, in the case of young people, watchful eyes as well as ready minds and willing hands. The number of readers and students as counted has been 21,367. 2,318 more than last year.

Through the agencies the library has been able to distribute books more generally than it could otherwise have done. As rapidly as possible each circulating book will visit both Gonic and East Rochester. Probably the same reasons, scarcity of new books and interesting current events have caused the decrease in circulation at both agencies. East Rochester library was closed during the month of January but reports a circulation of 1,833 during the eleven months, 318 less than last year. Gonic gave out 3,046 books, 683 less than last report but it also states the very interesting fact that, during the two evenings which the library was open each week, 911 readers were counted.

In the work of the year, made up as it has been of busy days, the librarian has had the faithful co-operation of the assistants. Miss Wentworth in charge of the delivery counter has also given first aid in the reference work and has attended to binding and filing of periodicals and pamphlets and kept a daily record of the day's work. Miss Foss in charge of the children's room has also assisted with the cataloguing, looked after the magazines for the reading tables and mounted and listed all pictures added, making all necessary reports. Miss McCrillis, general assistant, has had to fit in wherever needed, has done a large part of the typewriting and much of the repairing and has had charge of the East Rochester agency exchanges. Thus by the united efforts of the entire staff and the careful performance of the daily duties has the work of 1916, whether of construction, conservation or distribution, been accomplished.

I wish to express at this time my appreciation to all who have in any way contributed to the welfare of the library and the success of the work also to thank the trustees for their continued kindness and courtesy.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN E. PARSHLEY,

Librarian.

SCHOOL FINANCES

The cost of maintaining schools shows a tendency steadily to increase. In the ten-year period 1907-1916 inclusive the expenditures for Rochester schools grew from $26,455.38 to $42,926.60, and this in spite of the fact that the salary schedule, the chief item of expense, has remained unchanged for the period. This increase was, of course, due in part to the increase in school population from 1,071 in 1907 to 1,329 in 1916. That this accounts, however, for only a part of the increased cost is shown by the fact that the average cost per pupil increased in the same period from $23.41 to $32.30. There are several years in which the average membership of the schools is less than in the year preceeding, but there is no year in which the cost of maintaining schools does not show an increase. It is quite certain that this tendency to increase will not only continue, but will be accelerated in the immediate future. An increase in teachers' salaries has become absolutely necessary, and has already been decided upon by the school board. The cost of everything purchased and of every kind of service is abnormally high, and steadily increasing. For example, we are paying for paper, and paper products, between three and four times as much as we paid two years ago. Under these circumstances it is impossible that school expenditures should show a decrease, or even remain at their present level.

There are some questions in the minds of thoughtful citizens which need to be answered. The first thought of the tax payer, when he sees school expenses steadily rising over a term of years, is that there is something wrong, that somebody is guilty of carelessness and extravagance. He wants to know, if the schools which he attended were good enough for him, why they are not good for the present generation. The reply to that query is simple, namely, that the schools which were good enough for him are not good enough for the present generation, and he would be the first to protest if the school board should attempt to return to the conditions of a former generation. The people are demanding more and more of their schools; better schoolhouses and furnishings, more careful attention to the health of teachers and pupils, more practical courses, more expert service, and these all involve an increased expense. There is, and there has been no carelessness or extravagance in school expenditures. Doubtless an observer may find examples of waste in the use of supplies or lack of judgment in purchases, but in general the utmost economy is practiced and the greatest pains taken to obtain full value for every dollar spent.

There is a prevalent idea that the cause of increase in school expenses is the enlargement of the program of studies by the addition of new and expensive courses. Domestic arts and eighth grade Latin are cited as examples for the present year. Doubtless the commercial course was cited as an example in earlier years. Now it is true that the increased cost of maintaining the high school accounts in part for the increased expense in the ten year period which I have mentioned, not because new courses have been introduced, but because the high school has increased from 187 in 1907 to 298 in 1916, and because its equipment of books and apparatus has been improved. The high school period is of course the most expensive part of the school course, both for instruction and supplies, and a marked increase in attendance in these grades must involve large increased cost. But as to the cost of new courses it is plain that it requires a certain number of teachers to instruct a certain number of pupils, and these teachers cost no more if teaching new courses than if teaching older courses. To cite the case of this year—many people take it for granted that the addition of domestic arts to the program means that the expense of running the high school is increased by just the cost of maintaining this department. As a matter of fact we dropped from our program the courses in German, substituting for them the new studies. The teacher who left received a salary of $700, while the one who takes her place receives a salary of $600, a saving of a hundred dollars, which goes far to meet the expense of equipment for the new courses, and the equipment is good for a long term of years. The introduction of Latin into the eighth grade was equally inexpensive. No textbooks are used, except in one class, and the only expense of the course is for the note books and cards used in instruction.

Average rate of general taxation for the state, $1.68.

Another idea which is generally held by our citizens is that Rochester is making unusual sacrifices in the way of taxation on behalf of its schools, that the tax rate is unusually high, that the city devotes an unusual portion of its income to the schools, and that it really cannot afford to appropriate more money for its schools without raising its tax rate to such a figure as to be detrimental to the best interests of the city. A study of the table (A) will show how little basis in fact there is for these ideas. The figures in this table are taken from the official lists of the state department of education and the state tax commission, and are the latest available for the department of education. Figures are given for the eleven cities of the state, with four of the larger towns chosen at random. Referring to the table it will be seen (column 2) that, of the fifteen places mentioned, nine have a higher rate of school taxation than Rochester, and only five have a lower rate. The rate of school taxation is, of course, the final test of the sacrifices a community is making for its schools. Turning to the matter of average cost per pupil (column 3) it will be seen that every city and town on the list, except one, spends more upon the average pupil than Rochester. As to the rate of general taxation, (column 4) so far from being at the head of the list, and heavily taxed, Rochester is slightly above the average for the entire state. Of the places mentioned in the table nine have a higher rate of general taxation, and only five a lower rate. As to the proportion of total expenditures given to the schools it will be seen (column 5) that Rochester, with 25 per cent. occupies the seventh place, with six towns and cities devoting a larger, and eight a smaller proportion to the schools.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

The statement has been publicly made that Rochester teachers are amply recompensed at present, and that the action of the school board in voting an advanced schedule is an example of unjustifiable extravagance. This proposition, which doubtless expresses the idea of a good many people, may well receive some comment. Our elementary teachers, who are affected by the new schedule, are paid for thirty-seven weeks of the year. Unfortunately they cannot hibernate the other fifteen, but must continue to expend money in living as usual. That means that a beginner, who receives $360, has, for the 365 days of the year, less than a dollar a day. The necessary expenses for board and room are $6 to $6.50 a week. A teacher receiving our maximum, $450, is paid less than a dollar and a quarter a day throughout the year. Teaching is an exhausting and nerve wearing profession, and teachers, as well as pupils, require all the time of the short vacations in winter to recuperate, if they are to maintain their efficiency. Nobody, of course, needs eleven weeks' vacation in the summer, yet the necessity of working during this time requires teachers to go without a suitable and necessary vacation, because it is usually impossible to secure positions for a brief time. Many wish to spend a part of the vacation in study at one of the many summer schools, and this sort of study is an immense gain to the teacher and the school system which employs her, but most teachers are debarred from this necessary means of efficiency by lack of money. It would be a profitable arrangement for any school system, which would soon place its schools on a high level of efficiency, to pay teachers for twelve months of the year, and then require that they spend six weeks in the summer in study at some approved summer school.

But disregarding the necessity of living when school is not in session, and considering compensation for term time only, it appears that the minimum salary, under our schedule, is $9.73, and the maximum $12.16 a week. Upon this amount teachers must live, and meet all those demands which come to a person of culture, for dress, books, vacations, dental and medical service, church and benevolent contributions et cetera. That our teachers are receiving ample compensation for all these needs only one will declare who has never faced the problem of making both ends meet on such a salary. As matter of cold fact our teachers do not succeed in living on their salaries. I have in hand a statement from nearly every teacher giving a schedule of their actual expenses, which almost invariably is much greater than their salaries. The deficit is made up, either by work done outside school, or by the generosity of parents. I do not believe that any self-respecting community wishes to pay its devoted public servants a wage so pitiful that it must be eked out by gifts and earnings from other sources.

Not only is our present salary schedule not sufficient, as compared with the needs of a teacher's position, but it does not compare favorably with the amount which other young women earn in stores, factories, and domestic service, employments which do not involve the same requirements as to character, ability, training and experience. Nor does our schedule compare favorably with salaries paid in other places in our own commonwealth, which, in turn, are much below salaries paid in many other states of the Union. An examination of the accompanying table (B) will not be flattering to local pride. This table is based upon the latest figures, procured from the superintendent of schools in each place. The list does not exactly correspond to that in table A because the two tables were made out at different times, with no thought of using them together. Turning to the table it will be seen that, of the fifteen cities and towns included, only two have a lower minimum than our old schedule, and only three a lower minimum than our new schedule. Comparing our maximum salary, which is of course the significant figure, with that of the other places it is seen that no city or town on the list has so low a figure as that of our old schedule, and that only one town has a lower figure than that of our new schedule. One town has the same figure, while twelve out of the fifteen have a higher figure.

This table is confined to elementary school salaries, because that is the subject immediately in controversy.

The same relative position for high school salaries will be shown by figures which are not tabulated here. I have said enough, perhaps, to make it clear that popular ideas with regard to teachers' salaries and to school expenditure in general are widely at variance with the facts.

PROGRAM OF STUDIES

In my report of last year I said that "the first matter which presents itself is the organization of the program in the effort to cast out all useless topics and subjects, to reduce the subjects taken to their minimum essentials, and thus find time for those matters which are of supreme importance." Almost immediately after the publication of this report the revised edition of the state program of studies was received, which attempts to do exactly these things, among others. This program, which represents the best educational thought and experience of New Hampshire, is a radical document, and departs widely from the old course. It is a bold attempt to do what educators have talked of doing for a long time. It puts the different studies and the different topics within the studies at the point in the program where the mind of the child is best adapted to dealing with them. It eliminates non-essentials, and insists that essentials shall be finally mastered in the grades to which they are assigned, rather than reviewed again and again, in the hope of doing by constant repetition what ought to be done by efficient teaching. It abandons the formal teaching of any subject after the time when formal teaching ceases to be useful, and places great reliance upon the constant incidental teaching of subjects in the daily work of the school. It classifies studies according to the method of teaching which is to be applied to them, one class being assigned a regular place upon the daily program, with drill and daily recitation, such as arithmetic, reading in the lower grades, spelling in certain grades, etc. Another class is taught occasionally or incidentally, receiving quite a different treatment from the first class, such as nature study, humane treatment of animals, cooking and sewing, etc. A third class of studies is mastered by reading, either in class or in study period or possibly at home. Much of history, geography, literature, etc., may well be mastered in this way. This makes the daily work of the school much more varied and intelligent than the constant succession of set recitations in every subject alike.

Perhaps the most notable change from the old program is the treatment of the seventh and eighth grades as an introduction to secondary school work, and the arrangement of a program for these grades as a junior high school. It has long been felt that the work done in these two grades was unsatisfactory, and not well suited to the age and mental development of the pupils. These are the years of early adolescence, when pupils are no longer mere children, and cannot be made to take an interest in the drill work of earlier years. They are beginning to think, and need something new and fresh which appeals to their awakening powers and interests. We have heretofore kept them at work upon the studies of previous years, merely reviewing and repeating in expanded form what they have already studied. The new program presents new and interesting courses, and makes these years, instead of a dull review, a gateway into new and fascinating fields of knowledge.

We have attempted this year to adjust ourselves gradually to the new program. Each school has set itself the task of completing the work which the new program demands for previous years, and of going on with the studies of its own year as far as possible. No attempt has been made to do the same thing in each room of a grade, but rather to do exactly the things which each room needs to put itself in satisfactory relation to the program. Our experience with the new program thus far has been highly satisfactory. Especially in the seventh and eighth grades we have found an unexpected interest and enthusiasm which I can hardly overstate, developed by the new studies. I think that these years will take on new meaning and worth to the pupils when we have fairly introduced them to the full program designed for them.

SCHOOLHOUSES

Your committee on schoolhouses and grounds last year made a very careful survey of school property, spending several half days in visits to and inspection of the various buildings. They found a great amount of repairs needed, but limited themselves to those things which were of urgent importance in saving the buildings from deterioration. These more than exhausted the appropriation for repairs. The most important single item was the shingling of the Gonic schoolhouse. Besides these repairs undertaken with the regular appropriation a special appropriation by the council provided a new boiler in the School Street building, which is solving all the problems of sufficient heat in that building.

Two rooms at the East Rochester school have been furnished as dining room and kitchen through the joint efforts of the village improvement society and the school board. Gas has been installed for cooking, and necessary furnishings of table, chairs, cooking utensils and table service have been provided. The noon hour is spent very happily by a teacher and some fifteen pupils in preparing lunch, and eating it in civilized fashion. Many lessons in home making are learned during the hour. Lunches are served in the same way, though with an inferior equipment, at the Allen and School Street buildings, and plans are under way for introducing it at Gonic.

Good progress has been made during the year, through the efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association, in furnishing school grounds with apparatus for play. A variety of ball games, with swings, teeters, and sand piles, have already been installed. Through the efforts of pupils Victrolas have been purchased for the Wakefield Street, East Rochester and Allen schools.

INSTRUCTION

We have paid particular attention to reading in the lower grades, and I have tried to provide in the primary grades a sufficient amount of reading matter so that the children would be led on to read the full amount of which they are capable. Besides the books in sets for oral reading there has been provided in each room a group of single volumes in quantity sufficient to supply every child who might have opportunity to read at his seat during the day, and quite as much reliance has been placed upon this voluntary silent reading for progress as upon the oral class exercise.

We have also laid special emphasis in grades III to

VI inclusive upon spelling. We are making an effort to completely master a selected list of words for each grade which consists of the words actually used by children of this age, the list having been determined after years of study and investigation of the vocabulary of children.

For the balance of the school year we shall lay especial stress upon arithmetic, in the effort to make the children efficient in the fundamental and practical operations of that science.

At East Rochester we are making a thoroughgoing experiment in departmental teaching, the teachers dividing the subjects of instruction between them, each taking various classes in their chosen subjects, thus limiting themselves to a smaller number of subjects with the idea of concentrating upon these, and increasing the value of their teaching. The school program has come to involve so many subjects that it is difficult for a teacher to be thoroughly proficient in them all.

A large percentage of the pupils undertook home gardens last spring under the direction of the schools and it is our expectation that an even larger number will plant them this year, since vegetables have advanced to such unheard of values.

I take pleasure in acknowledging the continued and hearty support of your board in all efforts in behalf of the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. BRECK,

Superintendent.

The total enrollment for the year is 278, divided as follows: 2 post graduates; 41 seniors; 63 juniors; 84 sophomores; and 89 freshmen. Of this number 24 have left school, leaving the present membership 254 as compared with a total enrollment of 302 and a present membership of 262 at a slightly earlier date last year.

The changes in the teaching force since the last report have been even more numerous than usual. In fact, since February 1916, five positions on the staff have been responsible for eight newly elected teachers, besides four substitutes serving for one or more weeks each. The list of these vacancies is given elsewhere and need not be repeated here, but its magnitude is very significant. Under such conditions, it is inevitable that the efficiency of the school should be seriously impaired and that the pupils, particularly in some of these classes, should be materially handicapped in their work. In general, the new force is working faithfully and energetically; and on the whole is efficient and capable; but it is impossible for a pupil to do good work with such frequent changes in teachers. This school loses, on an average, nearly 50 per cent. of its staff each year; which means that far too much time and effort are wasted each year, both by teachers and by pupils in mere readjustment. It is of the most vital importance that this school should retain as long as possible teachers who have demonstrated their value and who have become acquainted with the particular conditions and problems of the city. I believe this matter of securing and retaining capable department teachers is the most serious problem with which we have to contend.

During the year, the greatest changes in the school organization have been the installing of a Domestic Arts curriculum and in the introduction of Latin in the eighth grade. The Domestic Arts department is meeting a long felt want and is developing rapidly in lines of practical value. The rooms fitted for the work are ample for present needs and the equipment entirely satisfactory. Ten pupils entered this department this year, and a much larger enrollment is to be expected next fall. The Latin work is in accord with the new plan of the State Department, looking toward a new grouping of the grade work. Our own share in this change is by way of an experiment in teaching Latin by the "direct" method. Miss Taylor of the Latin department of the high school has given a spare period daily to this work with the eighth grade in the high school building. Next year, this group of pupils will be brought into direct competition with pupils taught under a different method; and we shall then be able to reach some definite conclusions as to the comparative merits of the different systems.

For the future, it is evident that the high school program will need substantial revision. Certain subjects now being taught, notably Ancient History in the freshman year, have little apparent relation to the real needs of the pupil. In general, however, I would recommend postponing most of such revision for a year or more as the new program for secondary schools of New Hampshire is nearly completed and will certainly be out some time during the next school year.

During the year, the school has carried on its usual activities. Class socials, athletic and debating teams, the school paper, the entertainment course, prize speaking, and several other extra-school interests have received a hearty and efficient support from the student body and from the city at large. The class of 1916 provided the hot water heater needed to make the shower bath available; the Rochester Woman's Club gave $25 for the equipment of the Domestic Arts department; and the class of 1913 has promised to install a second sanitary drinking fountain. For the second year the Springfield scholarship was awarded to Miss Ruth McAllister, '14, now in the class of 1919 at Bates.

As for the administration of the school, the greatest cause for complaint is the vast number of unnecessary tardinesses caused largely by apparent failure on the part of the parents to appreciate the importance of punctuality as a habit. As a matter of fact, this school has one of the worst records of any high school in the state in this particular respect; and most of this condition is absolutely not the fault of the pupils. When a boy is allowed to sleep until it is impossible for him to reach school on time, or when a girl is sent a half mile out of her way after twenty minutes of eight, it is not the fault of the pupil that he or she is late; but rather carelessness or thoughtlessness on the part of the parent is at the bottom of the difficulty. We have many pupils who come three to five miles to attend school; they are almost never late. Most of our tardinesses come from pupils who live comparatively near the school building. I might add further that a majority of those tardy pupils come from homes where it is not a financial necessity for the boy to work so hard and so long that his punctual attendance at school has to suffer.

The Parent-Teacher Association organized this year, has already accomplished much in the way of securing more efficient co-operation between the home and the school; and it is likely that it may be able to assist materially in improving this condition. On the other hand, we may be forced to take more radical steps and absolutely refuse to admit tardy pupils who do not have a good excuse to present. Several schools have already adopted similar rulings, and it is evident that the existing condition cannot be allowed to continue here.

In connection with this matter, it is more and more apparent that the old question of one or two sessions will have to be considered once more by the Board. At present about 75 per cent. of the Massachusetts high schools have the one session plan, but the trend of the last few years has been toward the double session. In this state, the tendency is toward two sessions, both as a matter of practice and also as a theory approved by the State Department. Our present system with its long interval between the first two meals of the day does constitute a real danger to the physical well-being of many of our pupils; and we have not yet been able to handle the lunch problem satisfactorily. As our Domestic Arts department increases in size, we look for improvement in this respect; but I am inclined to the belief that the eventual solution will bring this school back to the two session plan.

May I express once more my sincere appreciation of your helpful co-operation; and also of the active and energetic support given the school by the Board and by the citizens in general.

Respectfully submitted,

GILMAN H. CAMPBELL.

Report of Supervisor of Music

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Sir:—

The following is the report of work done in music during the past year:

I find a large improvement over work done last year, and speak particularly of the work done in reading and writing in the lower grades. It is a great satisfaction to find our children not only able to sing music at sight, but also to write from dictation, the same music that they find later on the printed pages. We also encourage and call for original melody writing from our grades, and speak with pride of work done along this line.

We have raised the standing of our schools in music, advancing nearly all the upper grades one book, and have now, in the most of our eighth grades, the book called for, and are taking, in a modest way, musical history, and, in the schools having the new music books, are studying the lives of the master musicians. I find this feature of the work of a most interesting nature for the children, and it brings them to a clearer understanding of the wonders and beauties of music. It also makes for a better appreciation of the art.

Special mention should be made of our efforts to help with time and rhythm, by making use of our new "time motions." Music must first of all be rythmical, and we all know how irresistable is the temptation "to keep time," as we say, when we hear a lively inspiring march played up to time. This is natural with most children, and they find no difficulty keeping with the beat; others must be helped along this line, as they seem to lose the feeling of time, and in a great many cases, until sufficient drill is given in time, they are rarely on the beat. These children can be helped, and it is surprising what results we have already obtained in the rooms following conscientiously my plan as to time-motions.

Our high school chorus this year is not as large as in previous years, and I speak with regret of the fact that music here is not what it should be. We turn out wonderful classes from our grammar schools, and they should just be at the beginning of their musical training, ready to get into real big things in High school, but unfortunately, such is not the case. Instead of looking on this as a beginning they seem to regard it as the end, and only a few earnest pupils go on. We look forward to the time when a real worth-while course in music can be put into the high school, and to the time when pupils will not look upon music as something unnecessary, not worthy of real consideration and earnest study. I may be wrong, but I think that the average pupil remembers the music learned in school, long after they have forgotten the value of "X plus or A minus," or how to conjugate a Latin verb, and the reason seems to be that music is a language everyone understands and loves.

Just a word regarding our closing exercises of last June. The singing of each class separately was something to remember and one could not say which was best. The selections were all taken from work done during the year, and the classes united in singing the cantata, "The Fairy Queen," and a chorus of older people might have been proud to render it so well. We have also had a very pleasing program given in East Rochester, of songs learned in the beginning of this school year, and I was very glad to give my services singing and acting as accompanist. At Christmas time also, the upper classes in Gonic sang several selections at their public Christmas tree, in a very pleasing manner, and at this time I also added two solos to the program.

The placing of Victrolas in East Rochester and the eighth grade at the High School Building, gives us one of these valuable aids to music in nearly all of our schools, and to my mind, it is one of the best agents available to helping the children know and appreciate the best in music.

Two features of the work which have given no little pleasure to the public were the playing of the High School Mandolin-Violin Club several times during the year and at graduation, and the singing of different classes of work done during the regular music period from our several schools at the Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

In closing I thank the teachers and children who have worked faithfully with me, and feel assured that I will always work hard and untiringly for the best results in music.

Respectfully,

MOLLY C. DONOHUE.

Words by Ruth Abigail McDuffee.

We come to leave forever now,
Our Alma Mater dear
With pleasure we'll remember long,
The happiness of years.

Chorus

Farewell to halls so long held dear,
And classmates, friends of years;
To Alma Mater we'll be true
And to days of "Auld Lange Syne."
We enter life's broad road today
With wisdom armed for strife,
With courage high, and noble aim
We'll strive to conquer life.
The fame and glory, aim of youth,
We'll strive with might to win.
Our motto will direct us on
The road to higher things.

Non-resident pupils desiring to be admitted to Rochester schools should first secure a written permit from the superintendent of schools.

ERRATA—Owing to an error in copying the manuscript for the printer, on page 236 the total received from tuitions reads $248.65, where it should be $483.65.
